The [illegible] Cannibal [illegible]

DENVER, April [illegible] Packer [illegible] progress at Lake City [illegible] was concluded last night [illegible] he was [illegible] ... While in the vicinity [illegible] Lake City a hunting party [illegible] their way [illegible] they lived on roots [illegible] The men [illegible] and some crazed. While [illegible] in this condition Packer deliberately [illegible] butchered the whole party [illegible] lived on flesh cut from the [illegible] course of the trial Packer made a statement [illegible] and for two hours he related the experience of the party from their setting out from [illegible] the most sickening details of the murder and his subsequent feasting on human flesh, claiming that the killing was done in self-defense. The evidence shows that each member of the party [illegible] possessed quite a large amount of money, [illegible] which the ghoul since has been living. After nine years wandering he was arrested a few weeks since near Fort Fetterman, Wyoming. While the evidence is entirely circumstantial yet it is decided conclusive and a verdict of guilty is confidently expected.

At Lake City this morning the jury in the case of Alfred G Packer, charged with murdering five companions in San Juan county in 1872, returned a verdict of guilty. A motion for a new trial on the ground that the murder was committed on an Indian reservation, and therefore this court has no jurisdiction, will be made this evening.

A Disgraceful College Row

BLOOMINGTON, April 13.—(Special.)—Sections A and C of the state normal school, at Normal, became involved in a serious affray this afternoon, on the campus of the university, over a mock burial ceremony by section C, who were about to place in a grave a coffin marked "Section A." The section who are to be graduated in June were out on two days vacation and armed with bats and clubs of all descriptions accompanied section C to the burial place. The coffin was carried by six pall bearers, followed by the whole class of '83. At length the row began by a member of section A tearing down a banner. The class at once assaulted each other and a general engagement took place. A student of C class grabbed bats from two of the A division and felled them to the ground. Isaac Hammer had his scalp cut and skull fractured. Herber Higby had his scalp laid open and both were carried from the grounds. Melville A [illegible] of section C was also laid out by a heavy blow of a club. Any quantity of noses were smashed, eyes blackened, etc. After the row was over the burial service was concluded. The students of both sections had a meeting to-night and endeavored to smooth the matter over, but it will undoubtedly cause a good deal of trouble with the faculty.

Murdered by Strikers.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 13.—The union men at the large rolling mills here went out on a strike some weeks ago, and the mills recently started with new hands gathered from various parts of the country. For several days the old Union men have manifested an unruly disposition, and to-day the situation became desperate. A gang of union men followed three of the non-union workmen—strangers—into the country, and assaulted, severely beat and threw them off a bridge. Two of the number have not returned and are said to be seriously injured. Physicians started for the scene, but returned, being afraid of their lives. Last evening as the workmen were leaving the mill after getting outside a high inclosure, a gang of strikers opened fire upon them with rifles, shotguns and revolvers. It is said that fifty shots were fired. John Waldron, a young workman recently from Pittsburg, was instantly killed, 34 buckshot entering his side. Bernard Mulkern was severely wounded in the chest and arms. It is thought seriously. No arrests have been made. The murderers are unknown, being in ambush. The workingmen are aroused, and express a determination to run the mill.

LATER.—There has been no trouble at the rolling mill since that of last night reported in these dispatches. The men remain firm in their determination to remain at their posts and many think the assault of last night will have an effect directly to the contrary to what was anticipated. The firing party have not as yet been identified and no arrests have been made.

New York's Free Whisky Law

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Special.)—Efforts are being made among business men and leaders of new moderation temperance organizations to induce the governor to veto the excise bill recently passed by the legislature, and which entrusts the excise commissioners with practically unlimited discretion in granting license. The passage of the so called free whisky bill, together with the unfavorable reply of the commissioners to the appeal of the temperance people to enforce the statute against Billy McGlory and other infamous persons who defy the authorities have created widespread indignation here and in Brooklyn. Wise democrats fear the effect of the victory on their interests at the next fall election. Others contend that the governor dare not veto the excise bill lest he array against himself the 10,000 liquor saloons of the city. It is stated that a vigorous campaign against the bill is already under way by temperance organizations, and on Sunday it will be anathematized from more than one pulpit. By this means it is hoped to create such a powerful public opinion as will deter the governor from affixing his signature to the bill. The principal journals of New York and Brooklyn have denounced the bill.

The Judge's Charge Severely Criticised

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Special.)—A Boston special says the acquittal of Heywood excites surprise and indignation. The scene in the United States district court is described as remarkable when Heywood's offense was denied. Judge Wilson charged the jury directly in favor of Heywood, and also permitted him to deliver an address for five hours in which he took occasion to advertise not only his doctrines but also his publications, telling the extent of their circulation and saying that his doctrines were approved by eminent men from Moore to Shakespeare. He lauded Whitman's poems as far above those of Longfellow. He is a cousin of the senator, and lives near Worcester. The charge of the judge is severely criticised.

Morse Bows to the Inevitable

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Special.)—An evening paper learns from Salmi Morse that he will not attempt to produce the Passion Play. "I shall never put it on any stage again. I bow to the decision of the present. In the near future a more liberal and educated sentiment may prevail and then I believe the Passion will be demanded instead of refused."

"What will you do with your theater?"

"I am going to produce plays there that will shame those who have thwarted me in my purpose, plays of my own as dignified and noble as the Passion. They will be ready by the opening of next season."

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Special.)—Last night the notorious resorts of Billy McGlory and Owney Geoghagan were watched by the police to prevent liquor selling. Neither place being licensed. Indignation was expressed by visitors because of the exception that seemed to have been made of these two places and there was of course a general sympathy with the proprietors.

THE WRANGLE OVER BLYTHE'S BIG ESTATE

Discovery of a Million Dollar Land Conspiracy in California—The Crop Outlook—Steamer Rumors.

The Wrangle over Millionaire Blythe's Estate

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The several contestants to the estate of the late Thomas H. Blythe, lately deceased, appeared to-day before the Probate court. In answer to the complaint of Alice Dickason, who claims to be the widow of the deceased millionaire, that the court had placed too much power in the hands of the public administrator, Judge Finn [illegible] that the proper place to put the power [illegible] was in the hands of the public administrator and that he proposed conferring other powers on that functionary.

Mr. Highton, representing Alice Dickason, denounced the act of the public administrator in forcing himself into the private rooms of his client as that of a housebreaker.

Mr. Tyler, representing Nellie Firmin, the second widow claimant, asked for a delay in the proceedings of two weeks on the ground that Mr. Blythe had another child in France beside the one in England, and who would appear and claim a legal distribution of the estate. The announcement created great surprise among the other claimants who were in ignorance of his probable additional heiress.

Judge Finn concluded by stating that he would postpone further argument till April 25 and that, in the meantime, the public administrator would remain in charge of the estate.

Development of a Gigantic Land Conspiracy

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—A new land conspiracy has developed itself amounting to over a million dollars. Attorney General Brewster has filed complaint in the United States circuit court against the San Jacinto Tin company, claiming that the government has been cheated out of over $1,000,000. The lands in question are situated in San Diego county and comprise what are known as the Sobrante lands, comprised in a grant made by Pio Pico, governor of California under Mexican rule. The complaint charges that the land indicated in letters patent was not the land conveyed. The United States government has now rescued the letters patent, and it is established that the conveyance of the land was a fraud. Attorney General Brewster alleges that the officers of the various branches of the land department of the United States who perpetrated the frauds set forth in the bill carefully kept them from the knowledge of the government so effectually that the government never knew of the frauds till nine months since. The lands in dispute comprise the San Jacinto tin mills and action will now be brought to compel the latter company to show cause why the letters should not be set aside and annulled.

California Crop Prospects

The rainfall for the season up to to-day is 15.3 inches against 15.72 for last year. Farmers generally throughout the state are satisfied and prospects of a more than average wheat crop are good. To-day the prospects were somewhat modified as a northwester is blowing. Should it settle down from the north serious damage to wheat will ensue. Probabilities are watched with anxiety as more ground was seeded last year than any year previous. Increase in the wheat acreage in the state is variously estimated at from 500,000 to 700,000 acres. The rain which came at the end of March saved many sections that would otherwise have been lost for this season. Now the crop is considered beyond contingencies.

Immigration to the Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The California Immigration association are renewing their efforts with some success. An agent of the association arrived yesterday from Colorado with three colonies comprising in all 365 persons, principally mechanics and farmers. Arrangements have been made to settle them in Shasta, Humboldt, Los Angeles and San Luis Obispo counties. Thirteen Swiss farmers also arrived. The total number of immigrant passengers arriving here last week was 1078.

Gray's Defalcations.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—State Comptroller Dunn has entered three additional charges against ex-Wharfinger Fairchild, connected with the Gray robberies of the harbor commissioners fund. The defalcations of Fairchild and Quail, together with Gray's, bring up the total amount to over $100,000. The new secretary has found a [illegible] advanced by Gray to the wharfinger amounting to $615 which has been placed to Gray's credit.

The Command of the Mare Island Navy Yard

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Commodore Shufeldt, whom it is stated was expected would be ordered to the command of the Mare Island navy yard, will now be retained in the advisory board, his services being too valuable to dispense with. Commodore Leward McCauley and Capt. C. A. J. [illegible] are mentioned in connection with the appointment.

Trains Delayed.

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(Special.)—The train from San Francisco this forenoon was detained two hours by snow in the Tehachapi mountains. Some of the drifts were 10 feet deep and it was with difficulty that the train got through. The train from the east, due here to-morrow afternoon, is reported five hours late at Casa Grande, Arizona.

Two Apaches Killed by Prospectors.

TOMBSTONE, April 13.—A herder in the employ of Don Juan Elias, near the custom house on the Sonora line, arrived here yesterday with news of the killing of two Apaches near the Swisshelm mountains last Sunday. Two American prospectors were camping near the Indian trail that crosses the valley to the Chiricahua mountains, and saw a band of mounted Indians approaching. Secreting themselves they awaited the approach of the savages. When they had arrived within about 50 feet the prospectors opened fire with their Winchesters, dropping two redskins from their horses. The remainder of the band were panic stricken by the unexpected attack from concealed enemies and fled, followed by shots from the whites, resulting in the killing of a horse. Satisfied that the band would not return the prospectors proceeded to inspect the good Indians. When approached one of them raised to a sitting posture and sent a revolver shot through the left shoulder of one of the prospectors. Before he could fire a second ball from a pistol his companions Winchester finished him. Scalping the two savages and securing their arms which bore the government brand, the prospectors came into Señor Elias ranch. Whether the Indians killed were government scouts or a raiding band from the San Carlos agency is not known. Every Apache in Arizona is considered an enemy and unless under immediate protection of the military will be shot by the rangers.

Rumor Current in San Francisco that a [illegible] Steamer will be Run Between that Port and Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—(Special.)—Rumors of [illegible] this [illegible] considerable [illegible] since the [illegible] of [illegible] steamer Newbern, formerly running between this and Mexican ports. It was reported that [illegible] the new steamer Mexico [illegible] transferred to the northern route [illegible] Oregon [illegible] way [illegible] the Pacific Coast steamship [illegible] It was stated this morning that [illegible] with the owners of the Mexico, through the agent J. Birmingham, for the purchase of the vessel and that an understanding had been effected.

ANOTHER RUN

Privately that overtures were made to the owners of the [illegible] steamer Wilmington, which in the event of its purchase [illegible] place [illegible] with a [illegible] the latter [illegible] to the Mexican steamship company [illegible] the sale of the Mexico was made. It being represented that developments might arise in connection with the matter in a very few days. The rumor is based on the decrease of trade with Mexican ports.

OCCASIONED BY RAILROAD INTRODUCTION

Though parties interested say that it is not sufficient to make the present route altogether unprofitable, and that when it does come to that pass, a similar vessel will be laid on and the Mexico placed out of commission until a revival of trade. This is considered by merchants as highly improbable, because the Mexico is a new vessel fully appointed, and it would be a losing game and would make her an easy prey to barnacles. The improvements of the Newbern are about completed and yet the agents say it has not been fully decided where she will sail to. Mr. Birmingham refused to make any statement, other than that he had heard of the rumor, but knew nothing about the matter. In shipping circles it is regarded as well advised.

AMUSEMENTS.

OLYMPIC EXHIBITION.—New Market theater was crowded last night with a very fine audience to witness the fourth annual exhibition of the Olympic club. The entertainment throughout was the best ever given by the club and every act was received with generous applause. Mr. Beatner, the new leader, showed himself one of the most versatile of gymnasts and was equally at home in the horizontal bar, tumbling, and parallel bar acts. His intense strength and skill and his modest [illegible] remarked by Messrs. Salisbury, Haswell, Jackson, [illegible] Daniel Davis, T. [illegible] and [illegible] Martin, F. [illegible] Merrill and Berry were beautiful pictures. It is not easy to conceive how they could have been improved on. Davis and Martin's double trapeze act was the most thrilling feature and did not suffer by comparison with professionals. A. L. [illegible], though comparatively a novice among the Indian clubs, very well [illegible] applause in the tumbling act by vaulting over six chairs and by his general excellence. Fred Merrill's skill upon the bicycle is so well known that it needs no reference.

The club must certainly be gratified that the public have shown such hearty interest in their work. The entertainment will be repeated this afternoon. A healthier sort of amusement for young folks could not be given.

HANDSOME ENGRAVINGS.

A beautiful series of illustrations intended for the West Shore in all the different stages of progress from the pencil sketch of the artist up to the finished lithograph, are on exhibition in the windows of McKercher & Thompson's book store. These views represent a large outlay and are the production of a corps of the best artists in this line to be found on the Pacific coast, working under the personal direction and supervision of L. Samuels, publisher and proprietor of the West Shore. That journal which is in its ninth year of publication and having reached, as its publisher states, a circulation of 15,000 copies, has now a corps of artists, engravers and lithographers and every facility for producing first class illustrations enjoyed by any of the leading journals of the United States, as is fully evidenced by artistic judgment displayed by the points of view selected for the sketches above referred to and the skill displayed in working up the details. The views of buildings and street scenes for beauty and truthfulness far excel anything of the kind ever attempted heretofore in Portland. The general view of the city is a beautiful one taken from a point calculated to show it to the best advantage and includes all the principal improvements made during the present year. Among them are the new central school building, the Grand Hotel and the Union depot, while beyond the river, dotted with scenes of ocean and river craft, is a view of the city the extensive improvements of the [illegible] company. A blue and in the background the cascade range, truthfully represented with [illegible] snow peaks towering to the skies, the gorge of the mighty Columbia and all the hills and vales which form a scene of which the eye never tires. The publication and dissemination of these and many other beautiful and truthful views of our city will benefit our city thousands of dollars and not one of those who have been asked to contribute one cent toward the expense thereof, which has been sustained solely by the energetic and indefatigable publisher, whose enterprise has brought him well merited success.

THREE ARRESTS.—A start was made yesterday in the work of arresting liquor dealers who were selling without license. Goes & Hughes, proprietors of a low dive at the corner of Second and Pine streets, were the men who secured the honor so ardently desired by Richard Garden of being first arrested. The third arrest was that of George Wiseman, proprietor of the Teutonic saloon and wine parlor, corner of Oak and Second. Their bonds were fixed at $100 each and were furnished by members of the Liquor Dealers association. It is probable that more arrests will be made to-day. The matter has been delayed somewhat partly to give the dealers a chance to complain of undue haste in the matter and partly because of its being necessary to [illegible]

Verdict of Guilty Against Brady, the Phoenix Park Murderer.

SENTENCED TO BE EXECUTED IN MAY

Disastrous Wheat Speculation in London—War Between France and China Threatened.

Brady Guilty of Murder

DUBLIN, April 13.—The trial of Joe Brady was continued this morning.

Jeffries called a clerk named Kennedy, who swore that he spoke to Brady, who was accompanied by another man on Dominick street, between 4 and 5 o'clock on the evening of May 6. He recognized Annie Meagher, who testified yesterday. She was with Brady that evening. Witness said he also met Brady the following day and the latter declared that murders would be done in the cause of Ireland.

Upon the conclusion of Kennedy's testimony the defense announced that it would call no other witnesses.

Argument of counsel for defense and prosecution then followed.

The judge completed his charge at 13 minutes after three when the jury retired. They were absent but a short time and returned to the court room and announced that they had found Brady guilty of the murder of Cavendish and Burke. Brady was immediately sentenced to be hanged.

Dr. Webb moved for arrest of judgment and alleged that under the crimes act the jury which heard the case was not legally formed.

The judge refused to grant a stay of proceedings and fixed the date for the execution of Brady at May 4.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Special.)—The Sun prints a communication from Dion Boucicault opposing the bill in relation to declaring that no theatrical representation of the Savior of mankind is to be permitted. He thinks such plays as the Passion Play should be left for public conscience and good taste to condemn. "Many years ago I wrote a play called this. The subject was the laughter of Pontius Pilate who, having been present when Jesus preached in the streets of Jerusalem, became a Christian. She prays privately to her father to spare the life of the Savior. CHILE AS THE ORIGINAL	[Panama Star and Herald]—No date

NEW YORK, April 6.—Special.—The World's reference [illegible] Lima correspondent asserts that the position of the Chileans in Peru is full of peril. The guerrilla forces, if indeed they are not to be called the army of General Caceres, can no longer be regarded with indifference by the Chilean garrison of Lima. A skirmish from which the Chileans have not come off with advantage occurred between the outposts of Caceres and the Chileans three weeks ago, within 30 miles of the Peruvian capital. Mean while a deadly epidemic invited by the debauchery and recklessness of Chilean troops, has broken out among the garrisons on the coast. A single serious military disaster in Chile it is obvious would bring the Peruvians to arms all over the country, and the silly attempt which the Chilean government is making to manufacture a pasteboard Peruvian President out of discredited and insignificant Iglesias bears witness to the anxiety and disquiet if not to the positive alarm of the Chilean government at the condition into which it has allowed itself to be drawn, by yielding to extravagance and the senseless rapacity of the worst elements of Chilean society.	The Chileans in Peru are now in a position of great peril. The guerrilla forces who may or may not be recognized as the army of General Caceres can no longer be regarded with indifference by the Chilean garrison of Lima. What has The Oregonian to say to this exposure of its dishonest way of making special dispatches? This:

It will be seen that The Oregonian either had the dispatch by telegraph just as it appeared in its columns or that itself, the San Francisco Chronicle, Call and Examiner and the Sacramento Record-Union all got hold of the Panama Star and Herald at the same moment, all "manufactured" out of it specials exactly alike, all credited the fraud to the New York World. WAYWARD PREACHERS

One after another the religious denominations are compelled to administer discipline to erratic preachers who forget the supernatural and run into rationalism. The Presbyterians had it with Dr Swing whom they were compelled to bring to book, the Methodists were obliged to deal with Dr Thomas for his unauthorized pulpit utterances and now the Episcopalians are discussing the case of Rev Heber Newton who has recently preached in New York a series of very remarkable sermons, which he has revised and published. Dr Swing and Dr Thomas both fought their cases through all the ecclesiastical courts of their denominations and were beaten at every turn, whereupon each of them organized an independent congregation in Chicago and each preaches every Sunday to larger numbers than before. Rev Newton seems to be going by the same road to the same destination. He is pastor of a church in the city of New York, having a numerous and wealthy membership, by which he is said to be greatly admired and approved. Should the doctors of the church pronounce against him he expects to take with him into his exile from his pulpit a great part of his congregation.

Mr Newton has said in his sermons that the old testament prophets were in their predictions "often mistaken, nearly as often in error as in the right." Again: "We seldom hear of these unfulfilled prophecies," but they are in your bibles. I believe I know of no one passage of the prophets which can be certainly said to point to any event beyond the near future of the writer. But you say, 'Do not the old testament prophets surely point to Christ?' I answer both no and yes. Of any mere literal prediction of the events of his life I know [illegible]. There was, however, a real pointing on to Christ, but it was ethical and spiritual. The nation's hope of restoration gradually shaped the form of an ideal king, [illegible] gradually shaped the [illegible] of an ideal character, while the two [illegible] blended historically in him who [illegible] the human ideal and throned himself in [illegible] as the Lord." Further, [illegible] has been mistaken in a synonym for [illegible]. The Hebrew prophets were men of [illegible] pure natures mirrored the [illegible] of earth, the moral laws, whose [illegible] made applications of those laws to [illegible], and enabled them to [illegible] the stirring events during [illegible]. Their glory is that they saw [illegible] of great empires the [illegible] that history has verified [illegible]." This may be called [illegible] from irreligious [illegible] interpretation but [illegible] higher fulfillment in the [illegible] realization of the loftiest [illegible].

[illegible] that Mr. Newton's book does [illegible] he promised to preach. That [illegible] as authorized by his [illegible] advance of regular [illegible] authorities, the organs of [illegible] are holding him to answer. [illegible], an exponent of the Episcopal [illegible] in New York, has gone so far as [illegible] of the prosecution. It [illegible] that Mr. Newton has directly and [illegible] violated his solemn declaration made at [illegible] of his ordination, that he [illegible] scriptures of the old and new [illegible] to be the word of God and to contain [illegible] salvation." The [illegible]. "The statements in Mr [illegible] are certainly startling, and [illegible] them by without giving them [illegible] at least of inquiring what [illegible] which this Goliath presents [illegible] morning and evening before the armies [illegible].

[illegible] that a trial of Mr Newton, [illegible], would result otherwise [illegible] from the functions [illegible] speak in the name and by [illegible] Episcopal church. [illegible] say that he utters [illegible] procession of multitudes [illegible]. If he does [illegible] doctrines of the church, [illegible] straightforward [illegible] from it and preach [illegible].

SALE OF STOCK.

[illegible] published at Corvallis, [illegible] recently made in THE [illegible] has no difficulty [illegible] in the Willamette valley in buying [illegible]. It considers that the [illegible] fairs is [illegible] to general farming [illegible]. "A great impediment [illegible] the absence of county [illegible] farmers would be able to procure [illegible] legitimate value for their stock [illegible]. It may probably be [illegible] to think of establishing [illegible] in Oregon. With increasing population and [illegible] they will of necessity [illegible]. The exchanges of the present [illegible] that we have to consider. We have [illegible] with a thinly populated country, [illegible] with, for half the year, [illegible] make it difficult and tedious work to travel round. Under these adverse circumstances it is no uncommon thing for a man who has a horse to sell to travel hither and thither through the country, perhaps, for a week together and then either sell at a sacrifice or else return home disgusted with things in general, and with himself and his horse in particular. As a rule, when you want to purchase farming stock of any kind you don't know who has such stock for sale, and when you have anything to sell or trade you don't know to whom to go to dispose thereof. This is the experience of every farmer. It is a notorious fact that enterprising farmers are frequently sending for improved stock thousands of miles away when the identical stock could be purchased within a few miles of their farm at home in Oregon."

The statement made by this journal and which calls out these remarks, should, perhaps, be modified somewhat, but we think the Colonist as far overdraws the picture on the other hand. But we hope that the statement and the comment upon it will attract the attention of breeders and lead to some enterprise in the way of properly displaying or advertising stock for sale. There is no more proper place to do this than at county or state fairs. Of late years there has been scarcely any display of cattle at these annual meetings. We hope to see better turnouts this fall.

When a member of the cheap whisky association argues that the license ordinance is unjust because it deprives him and his family of their means of support, he evidently has no realization of the detestable system of robbery on which his "business" is founded. It deprives families of support by hundreds and thousands. Every cheap whisky and beer hole swallows the wages of great numbers of workingmen and keeps their wives and children in want and wretchedness. The complaint that the new ordinance deprives him and his family of their means of support is fit for the case hardened cheek of Dick Gerdes and his associated gin jerkers who not content with robbing families of the earnings which should go to support them, want to rob the city of its revenue into the bargain.

The penalty for violation of the license ordinance is a fine of not more than $300 nor less than $50, or imprisonment in the city jail not less than 15 nor more than 90 days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

The New York World, democratic organ, plainly says that before the democratic party can win in 1884 it must fight out the tariff issue in its own ranks. In that fight there will be fun for the onlookers.

THE RIVER CHANNELS.

As their shipping season will soon be upon us and again we shall have trouble with the bars between this city and the ocean. The failure of congress to pass the river and harbor appropriation bill leaves the United States engineer with only a remnant of last year's funds on hand and the most that he can do, it is likely, will be to keep the channel across Swan island bar open. And now shall we, forewarned as we are of the certain embarrassments and inconvenience which result from a bad river and the consequent certain damage to our reputation and the prosperity of our city, allow the year to pass by without an effort to improve the river in these respects? It is a most certain thing that government appropriations in the future will be smaller than they have been in the past. The country has expressed its condemnation of large appropriations for river and harbor work, and in the general reduction which must follow enterprises here will of course suffer. If we wait for the government to do the work necessary to make Portland accessible for large ships at all seasons we shall wait in vain.

The engineers have perfected plans for the work along the whole river and have so far carried them into execution as to practically demonstrate that if they could be applied they would certainly produce the desired results. The most money has been expended at the mouth of the Willamette river which it will be remembered up to two years ago was the pilots' bug bear. When the government work was begun there the low-water register was 14 feet; now, before the work is completed it is 20 feet. Not a single vessel stuck there last season. But this work in its half-done condition will soon have to be abandoned because the engineer has no funds to carry it on.

The point which now gives most trouble is Swan island bar and for this the engineer will reserve the money at his disposal. The original plan for deepening the river at this point was to close the channel on one side of Swan island and by directing the whole flow of the river into the other, and by a little assistance with the dredger, to make it deep and wide. But as the banks on either side of the island have become valuable for dock locations, this cannot now be done without serious injury to private interests. However, by making with the dredger a narrow channel on each side, and by building out the upper point of the island with piles in the shape of a Y, fitting over its end like a cap, good results could be accomplished. It will always, probably, be necessary to employ a dredger here at intervals, but the engineer is of the opinion that by the plan proposed, a constant depth of 24 feet can be maintained. The embarrassments of a narrow channel could to a great extent be avoided by the establishment of one channel as an "up" route and the other as a "down" route.

The bars in the Columbia which are troublesome are at St. Helens, Walker's island and Martin's island. At the former two training walls are needed to confine the flow of the river bed. These, once properly built, could be relied upon to do their work effectually and permanently. The channel on the Oregon side of the river is the deeper and more reliable and into this it is proposed to direct the currents whose volume here is great and powerful. At Martin's island and Walker's island it will only be necessary to close up secondary channels.

It has been discovered recently that a bar is forming in the Willamette a little below St Johns, at a point where the water has always been deep. It has not yet become an obstacle to navigation, but the shoaling in the past few months has been great and the engineer fears that the new bump will soon become formidable. A survey to ascertain details is now in progress. The cause of the shoaling is thought to be the dumping of refuse from the St Johns' mill and barrel factory.

Portland cannot afford to allow the rivers to go unimproved. It must be remembered that we must hereafter compete on much closer terms with Puget Sound than ever before. Completion of the Portland Kalama branch will bring us practically within a short distance of the Sound, and remove one of the conditions—perhaps the chief one—which has heretofore kept us from feeling the great Sound harbor as a rival of the Columbia river. If Portland is to retain the shipping business the rivers must be opened. The government will not open them. Portland must herself have the work done. We suggest to the board of trade that it take this matter in hand and call a meeting of property holders to consider it.

THE QUESTION EAST AND WEST.

While we are struggling with one phase of the liquor question in Portland Oregon, another phase of it is in controversy in Portland, Maine. Here, we are trying to enforce a moderately high license, with a view of limiting the abuses and evils of the traffic, there, they are trying a prohibitory law, which gives rise to a warm dispute as to whether such law has any really restraining effect or not. Portland, Maine, is but little larger than Portland Oregon. Here, under a very loose license law we have about 160 places where liquors are sold. There, under a state prohibitory law, the books of the collector of internal revenue show that the number of licenses to engage in the liquor business granted by the United States is 212. In the whole state of Maine 1162 dealers are paying the government's annual tax. There must be a good deal of drinking prohibition notwithstanding to support them, since it is hardly to be supposed that they are paying the government tax merely from a patriotic desire to reduce the national debt, praiseworthy as that would be.

General Neal Dow, however writes to the New York Sun that the prohibitory law has reduced the liquor traffic in Maine to one-twentieth what it was when he first turned his attention to the subject. Replying to him, the Sun says that General Dow mistakes the real significance of the figures which show the number of dealers licensed by the government under the internal revenue laws. If the traffic has been reduced to one twentieth what it was before the days of prohibition then Maine was cursed in 1850 with rumshops equivalent to 23 240 of the average rumshops of to day and as the entire population of the state in 1850 was only 583,169 that would make one such shop for every 25 men women and children living in the state or one bar saloon or rumhole for every five voters! That is too much to believe even from General Neal Dow.

From the number of places in Maine licensed by the United States it is plain that the state prohibitory law is being trifled with by the people. In other words they do not enforce it because they do not want to enforce it. That is prohibition will not prohibit except in small or rural communities which do not want to drink, and for them prohibition is quite unnecessary.

Senders met with a painful accident pending sentence, falling from the loft of a barn to the floor below, breaking several ribs, and receiving other internal injuries. His recovery is doubtful. He is yet in the custody of the sheriff.

In response to an appeal made by the Railway Age published at Chicago the employes of the Oregon Pacific are contributing to the fund for the relief of the destitute family of Conductor Cain, of the Little Rock and Fort Smith road who was brutally murdered by train robbers on the night of March 7 1883 while in the performance of his duty. The object is to buy a home for his widow and assist in educating his four children. Every railroad man in Oregon and Washington, from managers to brakeman should give something toward this fund.

The city council on last Monday evening passed an ordinance, under suspension of rules increasing the liquor license to $400 per annum, double the present rate and also raising the bond from $300 to $500 the latter sum being the limit fixed by charter. Following is the vote on the ordinance: Yeas—F F Taylor, B J Hawthorne, G W Kennedy, John Rowland, Jas A. Cauthorn, H W Vincent—6. Noes—Philip Phile, John Mensinger—2. Absent—F H Lewis. The ordinance has been forwarded to Mayor Jenowe, who is at his farm in King's valley, for his consideration. The action of the council is generally indorsed. The matter will be made an issue in the city election to be held on May 7 when the liquor dealers will endeavor to return aldermen who will favor a reduction to old rates. Both sides are organizing for the contest and present indications point to a sweeping victory for the high license advocates.

ADJOURNED MEETING

An adjourned meeting of those citizens who met to indorse the action of the city council in the matter of "high license" will be held in the parlors of Messrs Ladd & Tilton this evening at 8:30 o'clock sharp. A full attendance is requested.

ALCOHOL'S ADHERENTS.

The Whisky-Soaked Conspirators Hold Another "Secret" Session.

STILL DEFIANT TO THE CITY'S LAWS

How an "Oregonian" Reporter Again Bamboozled Gerdes, of Well-Respected-Merchant Fame—Full Report of Yesterday's Meeting in Cahalin's Hall.

"Whisky men to the right of him,
Whisky men to the left of him,
Whisky men in front of him,
Whisky men behind him,
And not a one stumbled."
—Revised Edition.

The liquor dealers' association of Portland, so-called, held another secret meeting yesterday afternoon in Cahalin's hall, and THE OREGONIAN spared neither time, labor nor money to give its readers a full report of the proceedings, which is therefore presented herewith. Between THE OREGONIAN and the low-down rumsellers and beer jerkers war has been declared, and upon the part of the latter it has been announced to be war to the knife, hence the necessity to THE OREGONIAN of keeping itself and the law-abiding public whom it represents informed concerning the movements of the enemy. In war, all things are justifiable, even to the employment of spies and the capturing of the private papers of opponents, but this paper first attempted an open and honorable course with its foes. Genial "Jerry," whom everybody knows and everybody likes, presented himself at the door of the hall when it was first opened, there being present Richard Gerdes, Esq., and a few others. No objection was made to his entering at this time but when he asked the privilege of remaining and making a fair and impartial report of the proceedings, he was informed the association could not think of such a thing; and as the members from Couch were now arriving and President Al. Zieber's presence was momentarily expected, he was gently invited to leave the sacred precincts of this temple of Bacchus. Before going, however, he exacted a promise from Gerdes that the latter would introduce a resolution to test the sentiment of the meeting, allowing reporters to be present and take notes. This Gerdes faithfully promised upon his word and honor as a "well-respected merchant," to do. How he kept his faith the reader will learn later on in this report. But it made no difference to "Jerry," who went off whistling and chuckling to himself, as he thought of how little account it was whether or not he gained admittance.

Knowing full well that its recognized representative would not be admitted to the secret councils of the whisky men, THE OREGONIAN began on Monday last its preparations for obtaining a report of yesterday's meeting surreptitiously. Of course, the San Francisco whisky drummer business was played out—Gerdes and the others would now watch every place too closely for that—and, besides, Joe Brisman, who furnished the materials and "made up" the reporter before, had gone back to San Francisco. Something else must be tried this time. "These things come high," remarked the city editor, during the consultation of the local force, "but we must have them," which highly original remark was immediately acted upon. Our new young man was provided with a pocketful of gold and given leave of absence until last night, with permission to take any course he deemed necessary in order to get the report. Failing in this, the money he might have spent would be docked from his week's wages. This was a powerful incentive, and then he remembered that in the bright lexicon of a reporter there is no such word as fail, so he set out with a light heart and a determined purpose. His first act was to get a flashy, four-for-one-in-the-turn style of a suit made at an uptown tailor's, and then he went down into Couch precinct and struck up a bargain with the proprietor of a corner beer-dive. The advocate of cheap whisky was a little afraid of being arrested on the new ordinance and didn't have money enough to pay his license, so the bargain was easily consummated and the dive and the reporter's money quickly changed hands. On Tuesday morning the reporter opened out to big business in his new capacity, and by a judicious display of free lunch made money hand over fist during the next three days. Yesterday afternoon he shut up shop, and, armed with his bill of sale and other credentials, he presented himself at the whisky dealers' association, finding no difficulty in obtaining admittance. "Jerry" was going down just as he went up, but never a sign of recognition passed between the two. Fortunately the session was a short one, and his wonderful memory was not taxed quite so much as it had been the week before. The main bother was the set of resolutions they passed, but the reporter did his best, and if they are not verbatim the sentiment is assuredly correct. (Right here it might be remarked, as it is too much risk to play the same game twice, that the reporter has no further use for his saloon, and any one calling at THE OREGONIAN office, reporters' room, to-day, can purchase it very cheap, with all the fixtures, stock, good-will, etc., pertaining thereto. N. B.—The license has not been paid.)

Before the meeting was called to order, Richard Gerdes, the well respected merchant, took occasion to vehemently denounce the deception that he had been imposed upon by an alleged San Francisco whisky drummer and had introduced him into the secret council of the liquor dealers' association, which was held last week Friday. There being several doubting hearts among the members present, Gerdes attempted an illustration of what he considered the only possible way in which THE OREGONIAN could have obtained a full report of the secret transactions of their meeting. To fully understand Gerdes' explanation it is necessary to give the public a description of the location and arrangement of Cahalin's hall, their meeting-place. It is situated on First street, near the corner of Stark, upon the second floor. The stairway leading to the hall is a narrow one, with a door at the top which originally opened into the hall direct, but now a thin board partition cuts off a portion of the room and forms a narrow hallway 12 or 15 feet long with another door at the end opening into the hall proper.

"It's easy enough to see how THE OREGONIAN got a report of our meeting," stormed Gerdes, "the reporter stood up against that partition and wrote everything down just as we said it. If any of you don't believe it, just go out there and see how easily you can hear."

Half a dozen prominent members ran out to test the matter and Gerdes [illegible] stentorian tones that could have been heard a block away, "Can you hear what I'm saying?"

"Yes, every word," came back from the other side of the partition in a chorus of voices.

"We'll have an outside guard this time," yelled Gerdes in a paroxysm of rage.

"Yep," chimed in another; "and if any reporters try to come up, we'll throw the s—— of b—— down stairs."

"You bet!" chipped in a bloated swill-tub from Couch precinct, "I wish we could find one of 'em in here now, wouldn't we maul 'im?"

Our reporter trembled in his bunko-steerer breeches and toyed nervously with his watch-chain.

Then began an animated search for a reporter somewhere in the room, the zealous self-constituted detectives looking under benches, into the stove and even into the water pitcher, as well as moving chairs and beating upon the bricksides of the room, believing no doubt with Shakespeare, "he very walls have ears; even stones have been known to move and trees to speak."

It was a fruitless search and it interrupted by a rap from the president's desk calling the meeting to order.

Gerdes immediately bobbed up serenely, mindful of his promise to "Jerry," and addressed the meeting: "I suppose everybody here wants the proceedings of this meeting kept secret, and I move that no one but members be allowed in here!"

The president put the motion in the midst of the storm of applause which followed Gerdes' little speech, and there really didn't seem to be any use in asking if anybody wanted to vote "No."

"I move that Mr. Joe Taylor be made sergeant-at-arms," sang out the irrepressible Gerdes, and everybody voted joyfully for Joe, who thereupon took up his position at the head of the stairs.

Just then "Jerry" came back to learn the result of the resolution that his friend Gerdes was going to put through for his benefit. As "Jerry" started up, Joseph started down. They met half way. "Jerry" was "fired bodily," and Joseph returned to his post at the head of the stairs, proudly conscious of having done his duty.

Then along came J. C. Cartwright, U. S. internal revenue collector, who was looking for a lawyer's office, and was steered up the staircase by a facetious friend. The vigilant sergeant-at-arms supposing that owing to the action of the association in regard to the city license the U. S. official had become alarmed for his revenue, informed him that the sentiment of the meeting was averse to paying anything in the shape of a tax and bounced him down the stairs without ceremony.

The secretary, meanwhile, proceeded with the roll call, no small task, considering there are nearly 200 names put down as members of the association. Less than 60 answered to their names and there was not a representative of a respectable saloon present, these having paid their license and not caring what the association did.

Before the roll-call was finished there came rushing up the stairs a well-known hoodlum and frequenter of low dives called "Brockey." Some of our readers will remember him as the thief who stole the stove from the pesthouse some time ago. With such a character as "Brockey" has, it wouldn't seem right to the average mind to deny him admittance to anything connected with whisky, but the valiant sergeant-at-arms rather liked the job of firing men down stairs, and therefore grabbed too hurrying hoodlum.

"Lemme go," panted "Brockey." "I want to see Walter Hughes. They've arrested his partner, George Gore!"

"Hooray!" yelled Joseph, forgetting the importance of guarding the outer door and dashing into the presence of the astonished assembly, fairly boiling over with the news he had to impart. "They've arrested George Gore, on the corner of Second and Pine, and I move that he be not allowed to leave and be ... till ... as ..."

Hughes didn't wait to be excused, but slipped out in a hurry through the ... door. In a few moments the excitement was over, only one man, Richard Gerdes, the well respected merchant, remaining silent, as he saw his fond hopes of becoming a martyr to the cause he loved so well thus rudely shattered. Finally the ... the roll-call was finished. The secretary ... the minutes of several ... but stated that he was unable to read ... was ... he was not present. ... It don't make any difference ... read them in THE OREGONIAN.

The secretary then read the following, which he hoped the association would sanction and allow to be published as defining the position which the liquor dealers had taken in resisting the new ordinance:

"Believing that the public are interested in the differences that exist at the present time between the common council of this city and the liquor dealers, we deem it but just to the community as well as to ourselves that the public should know and understand upon what we base our grievance. For that reason, and to place ourselves in a proper light before this community, we make the following statements:

"We never have nor do we intend now to shirk or evade the payment of our just and equitable proportion of the taxes to conduct and carry on this municipal government. We have always paid our proportion of the taxes for the state, county and municipal governments, with considerable extras thrown in. Now what we object to is that, after paying all the taxes incumbent of each and every other citizen, we should be called upon to pay an additional tax equal to an amount to the regular municipal tax levy on $40,000 each, annually.

"Is this just, or fair, or equitable, when there are but few of the parties interested upon whom this extra burden is imposed, who possess one-twelfth of that amount of property? We simply ask to be accorded the same privileges granted to any other law-abiding citizens claiming the same protection under our laws, and always holding ourselves amenable to the same. But we do feel that it is an injustice to be called and treated as criminals before we have committed any crime against the laws. It is true we are contesting the right of the common council to inflict upon us this extra burden of taxation, because we honestly believe it is unjust. But we deny that thereby we commit a crime any more than a person commits a crime who contests the enforcement of a regular tax levy on the grounds of its being excessive. We most emphatically deny that we are antagonizing any of the interests of this municipal government, but claim to have the interest and prosperity of the same equal to any other tax paying citizen in this community. Again, there is no other class of citizens that is required to pay this extra exorbitant tax for the mere privilege of making a living for themselves and families. Nor is there any other business upon which the exaction of an unreasonable bond is attempted.

"We have been required to file a bond in a large sum to do business for the period of one year. We have furnished the bond. It has been accepted by the city as good and sufficient, without which we would have had no license issued to us. The year has not nearly expired, and now we are called upon and forced to give another and a higher bond. How long would the grocer, butcher or dry goods merchant peaceably submit to so heavy a tax and so enormous a bond forced upon them for the privilege of conducting their business? We ask all fair-minded people of this community to reserve their judgment until the matter has been properly and honestly presented to the courts for adjudication, and if the courts decide that the burdens imposed on us by the council are just and equitable, no class of citizens will more cheerfully comply with that law or any other of the laws than the men composing this association."

That portion of the above which refers to having given bonds for a year, and now ones being now demanded, was inserted by a separate motion.

Gerdes opposed it, saying their attorneys could make a legal point on that and beat the cases, therefore it ought not to be made public. However he was willing to abide by the decision of the majority.

Counselor Stephens, his partner, Colonel Drake, being absent, stated that, in his opinion, the publication would make no difference. The whole statement was then unanimously adopted.

Joe Taylor moved that it be published in the News.

"The News ain't worth a cotton hat," vociferated a member on the back seat; "I hate THE OREGONIAN like h—l, but it's a G—d d—n sight better than the News!"

Then a motion prevailed that it be published and paid for in all the city papers, THE OREGONIAN alone excluded. [Thanking the association for its kind regards, THE OREGONIAN publishes it free gratis, and as nearly correct as the reporter could remember it.

The association's attorney then gave the members some advice concerning what they should do in case of arrest: "If you are taken before the court and asked to plead," said he, "just decline and say you are not ready. If you are arrested a second time, keep your temper and act manly, for we are going to make a manly fight. Say nothing about what your lawyer is going to do; we'll get in with a countermarch in good time. Above all, when you are arrested don't raise a fuss or do anything to give THE OREGONIAN a chance to get in and say we are hoodlums or anything of that kind."

Upon motion of Gerdes, a long article in the San Francisco Journal of Freedom and Right, which upheld the liquor dealers and condemned THE OREGONIAN, was read by the secretary after which the meeting adjourned.

Charley Burchard of Clatsop County Dies in Bellevue Hospital, New York.

Chaplain Stubbs has received the following letter from Rev. Dr. S. H. Hall of New York:

Charley Burchard, the poor "shanghaied" boy from Mishawaka, Clatsop county, Or., has come to the end of his troubles. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, of the New York sailors' home, were unremitting in their kindness to the poor fellow, rendering him every possible attention, and receiving in return his earnest expression of gratitude. A little less than a fortnight since he was taken ill. The attending physician deemed it best that he should be taken to Bellevue hospital for treatment. Pneumonia in its worst form ensued, and having no physical vigor to resist the disease, he died after a comparatively brief illness. He died March 26. On Tuesday following, two of our missionaries went out to the hospital, held appropriate services, and then interred his remains in the society's lot for seamen, in Evergreen cemetery, on Long Island. * * * I inclose herewith a lock of his hair, which you may have some way of sending to his mother.

The American Seamen's Friend society, of which Dr. S. H. Hall is the secretary, appropriated $30 to pay the lad's bills and to defray the funeral expenses. This letter is printed for the special information of the relatives, to whom Chaplain Stubbs would write and forward the lock of hair if he had the address of the parents. The care and burial of this poor lad is another illustration of the benevolent spirit and labors of this, one of the oldest societies in the United States. No better or more important institutions than the American Seamen's Friend society can be remembered by those who are seeking for suitable charities to whom to leave bequests.

A FEW VERY PLAIN WORDS
Which we have to address
TO THE PUBLIC
Before we publish our next Price List.
IF
It sets some people thinking,
THEN
Our object is attained.
IF
It chagrins others,
THEN
It must bear the stamp of Truth upon its face.

WE BELIEVE IT WILL DO BOTH.

The main reason for the efficacy of advertisements lies in their truth. When a firm places itself before the public in long-winded sentences, and those sentences lack the main essential, "truth," then that firm may as well save the trouble as well as expense, for the people will surely discover their falsities.

The FARMERS AND MECHANICS' has expended more money among the journals of this State than many storekeepers possess as a working capital. It still continues to add thousands of dollars to its expense account for advertising. Does any one believe that such a thing could be possible unless it proved remunerative?—and what is more, that it would prove remunerative unless those advertisements were simple truths based upon facts?

When we tell the people that our goods are directly imported from the EASTERN MANUFACTORIES, we do not mean that they were imported through the San Francisco merchants.

When we advertise ONE PRICE TO ALL we do so without any mental reservation, for we do not then have in our mind any preferred customer whom we may favor above others.

When we announce a line of STAPLE GROCERIES at a certain price, then we are careful to always have them in stock.

In this manner we could go on interminably, and show the difference between a real, genuine and sincere advertisement and a real, genuine catchpenny ad.

Our last week's price list on Clothing brought us an avalanche of country orders, and it would afford us great pleasure to prove by our sales books to any "doubting Thomas" that within the last eight days we sold over 360 Gents' Suits of Clothing. We venture the assertion that in the purchase of this clothing the people saved at least 43 1-3 per cent. of the prevailing Portland prices.

WE BELIEVE THIS WILL SET THE PEOPLE THINKING.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

The Revolution in Hayti.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The James Miller, from Miragoane, Hayti, reports that on the night of March 26 revolutionists landed at that port, overpowered the government troops and seized the fort. The following day General Bayley, revolutionary commander, ordered all able-bodied citizens to join him, giving one hour to decide. The majority joined the revolutionists. A battle followed, the revolutionists being again victorious. They fortified the town. March 3, two steamers arrived with government troops, and another battle resulted in scattering the government forces with a loss of 85 killed and 300 wounded. The loss of the revolutionists was slight. April 4 the government steamers left, apparently driven away by the arrival of a Spanish frigate. Shipping was undisturbed by the revolutionist party, but in consequence of the disorganized condition of business the Miller sailed under protest with half a cargo.

The Mormon Conference.

KIRTLAND, O., April 12.—The Mormon conference was continued to-day. The time was mostly devoted to religious services, during which a woman sang a song in a foreign language while she claimed she was "under the influence of tongues." A letter was read from Secretary of State Frelinghuysen, in response to a request to make a distinction between polygamous and monogamous Mormons. As Secretary Evarts sent a circular warning immigrants coming here to join polygamous communities, that they would thereby expose themselves to the penal laws of the United States, Secretary Frelinghuysen replies: "It is contrary to the practice of this government to give by circular, as is proposed, any sanction or indorsement of a specific form of belief. It is for the adepts of any religion to make a character. Law abiding emigrants are secure against interference."

A Dishonest U. S. Marshal.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Stillwell H. Russell, late U. S. marshal of the western district of Texas, recently tried and convicted on a charge of presenting false expense accounts, was to-day sentenced by Judge Turner at San Antonio to imprisonment for two years in the penitentiary. Russell was appointed by President Hayes and made application to President Arthur for re-appointment, but charges of misconduct in his affairs were preferred against him. The investigation ordered by the attorney general ended in conviction. It is estimated that Russell defrauded the government out of at least $50,000. His official bond, however, is good and the department of justice expect to recover the entire sum from sureties.

THE EAST SIDE.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM THE PEN.

A short time since Geo. Beck missed about $100 from his safe, in the office of his livery stable, on L street, and it at once became evident to him that the money had been extracted by some person employed on the premises who, by some means had become acquainted with the combination. He suspected one Frank Elliott employed as a washer, and in order to bind him to the fact and at the same time gather evidence against him, he retained his services by raising his salary. Matters continued as usual until the other day, when a similar amount was missed from the safe. Mr. Beck had in the meantime procured evidence against Elliott and after the second robbery preserved his dissimulation till he had gathered other and what he considered conclusive evidence of guilt, when he caused his arrest on a warrant issued from Justice Bybee's court. He was discovered to be a gambler, and the occasions he had ostensibly made raises by this means corresponded exactly with the dates of the robberies. To prove these facts a number of gamblers had been subpenaed as witnesses, and the case caused a flutter of excitement among the fraternity, who evidently feared developments damaging to their business. The sequel goes to show that these gentlemen interposed in order to avoid their own exposure. Day before yesterday, and shortly before an examination of the case was to have been made, Elliott approached Beck and under the specious plea that he did not wish his character as a gambler exposed in the newspapers, offered to compromise the matter by the payment of $150 and the costs of the suit, at the same time protesting his innocence. Mr. Beck finally agreed to this proposition, but not without plainly telling Elliott that he considered this action further evidence of his guilt, and his pleas empty subterfuge. The amount stolen amounted in all to about $190. The report that $500 had also been previously missed from the safe is without any foundation. Mr. Beck had the combination of the lock changed yesterday.

FROM ST. HELENS.

W. T. Burney of this city has just returned from St. Helens, and reports the county enjoying peace and prosperity. It appears the citizens employ the attorneys there as the man did his physician—to keep them out of trouble. Wise men they. The grand jury was adjourned the first day without making a presentment. One or two defaults were taken against bankrupt defendants, a divorce suit was summarily disposed of, and one or two equity suits went over for the term. The only business for a jury was the case of A. Davis and G. W. Vinsenhaler vs. Ella Morrison, in which W. T. Burney appeared for plaintiffs, and Messrs. Moore and Dillard of St. Helens for defendant. Among the jury was the editor of the Oregon Mist, who was probably retained for the oddity of the thing. It was an action for the reasonable value of work in the sum of $418, and also for $150 damages for breach of contract. Defendant denied the performance of labor, except under a contract set out, and that it was a joint contract with her and her husband. Plaintiff admitted the work was done under contract, but that the contract was changed after it was executed, and performed by plaintiff as changed up to a point where a payment became due from defendant refused to pay, and thereupon plaintiffs rescinded the contract, and sue for services rendered and damages for breach. The court ruled plaintiffs must elect to claim value of services or damages—one, and not both—and plaintiffs elect to rely on the value of the services. The main point was to prove the agency of defendant's husband to act for her, as plaintiffs alleged in their reply that he signed as agent and not as principal. About 20 witnesses were examined. After the argument of counsel and the charge of the court the jury retired, and in the course of two hours brought in a verdict of special findings in favor of plaintiffs and also for $335. The costs will amount to $150 or more.

A QUESTION OF RESPONSIBILITY.

The accident by which a portion of the Fourth street bridge was broken and the water main sundered has given rise to the question as to who is responsible for the damages sustained. It appears that the contractors, whose mortar was the cause of the accident, obtained the consent of the committee on streets and public property to use the street pending the meeting of the common council and that the warning that was given them by Hall & Stott merely had reference to dumping their heavy stone on the bridge, which they heeded. They claim that the accident would not have occurred had the bridge been in a proper condition and justice would seem to support their claim. When it was proposed to improve the bridge in a substantial manner a short time since the owners of the property adjacent to the location of the accident were among those who signed the remonstrance by which the improvement was defeated, and it would appear that they or the city are the responsible parties. The bridge was built out of the public funds, and is consequently the property of the city, who also has the control of it for purposes of travel and other uses, and the point is well taken that it was the duty of the city to know the condition of the bridge, and to have prohibited the use for the purpose through which the accident occurred.

HORSE SHOT.

The marshal was called upon yesterday to make the quietus of a horse that, having become old and decrepid and passed beyond its stage of usefulness, had been cast adrift to rustle for itself as a reward for its many years of faithfulness. It is a cream-colored animal and formerly belonged to Dr. Hutchinson. Some time since it was found roaming the streets and put in the pound, but no one appearing to claim it, offering to buy it or take care of it, it became the property of the city and was turned out to pasture. It had for some years been lame in one of its fore-legs and lately the other fore-leg had by some means become injured, so that the animal could not reach his head to the ground for food, and in this condition has for several days been hobbling around in the upper portion of the city depending for subsistence upon the charity of citizens. Its condition finally came to the notice of W. H. Meade, who deemed it the greatest charity to put the animal out of its misery and lodged information with the marshal with the result above stated. The animal was about 30 years old.

THE HOLLADAY AVENUE SUIT.

The special proceeding now pending in the circuit court wherein C. M. Wiberg asks the court to review the acts of the city council relative to the improvement of Holladay avenue has been heard on a motion made by City Attorney Harrington to dismiss the writ for the reason that the acts of the council were not judicial in their nature and could not be reviewed; but the court, following established precedents, overruled the motion to dismiss, and the writ of review will now come up for a hearing on its merits. Ten other property-owners on the avenue have followed the course of Mr. Wiberg in order to suspend the action of the city in distraining upon their property to pay the assessments for the improvement in dispute.

HUMBUGGED AGAIN.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months' use of the Bitters my wife was cured, and she has remained so for eighteen months since. FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY, April 13.

The shipping movement to-day has been active, and more seems doing in dry goods, hats, etc. Heavy showers are becoming monotonous, but clear weather at this time would doubtless bring frosts which would affect the fruit crops. Receipts of produce are less free than were dry weather calling, as country roads are in poor condition.

Freights remain firm, vessels asking 65s for next season's loading. In spot there is nothing doing. Of the disengaged vessels here and in San Francisco there are but two iron and one steel, the rest being wood.

Wheat situation unchanged. The eastern markets to-day are off, although there is nothing in foreign advices to affect them. English speculators who bought large some weeks ago, are now reported to be embarrassed, as values declined. Unless they soon recover the speculators are in a bad way.

Oats generally held at 75 cents, but buyers remain backward.

Onions high, with market excited. The quantity held here is small and extremely high prices below are drawing largely of that small quantity. Local market cannot be quoted above 4½ cents, as dealers are very cautious, fearing a decline as sudden as was the advance.

Barley is again looking up in California.

Business in potatoes is at present restricted by light arrivals and unfavorable shipping prospects.

Salmon dull, with no late transactions reported. Canners and buyers hold widely different views, precluding much business at present.

Eggs in lighter receipt, 25 cents being ruling price to-day.

Receipts past 24 hours include 295 ctls wheat, 300 bbls flour, 234 ctls oats, 30,213 lbs millstuff, 92 sks potatoes, 56 bls hay, 3550 doz eggs, 47 bxs fruit, 2140 lbs hides, 200 bbls lime. Also 27,745 lbs hides from the eastern section.

The meeting of canners at Astoria yesterday resulted in nothing being done regarding the withdrawal of a portion of the fishing boats. Representatives of canners held different ideas regarding the matter and no satisfactory conclusion was reached. We are not advised as to whether any further move will be made.

Gazette: Within Klickitat county could be founded scores of excellent, never failing water powers; and here in the immediate vicinity of Goldendale we have rapid, perennial streams that furnish water enough to run half a dozen ordinary manufacturing institutions. Besides the Little Klickitat river, which runs in a continual, clear, cold stream through the suburbs of the town, we have, two miles away, a spring which has furnished water enough to run a saw mill and two flouring mills. Different kinds of small manufacturing enterprises could not blame be inaugurated here. Who will come and make use of the water now going to waste?

FARMINGTON, ILL.—Dr. M. T. Gamble says: "I prescribe Brown's Iron Bitters in my practice and it gives satisfaction."

BABY'S PETITION.

Life is restless, days are fleeting,
Children bloom, but die in teething;
Warning take, all friends and mothers,
Watch the precious girls and brothers;

Like larks they rise in early morning.

EUGENE NOTES.

EUGENE, April 12.

Snow was falling here this morning.

P. G. Abel is expected here next week to take the pictures of the university graduates.

Miss Lulu Dunn goes to Portland this morning, where she will remain a few days visiting friends.

Howe's Kentucky Jubilee Singers played last night to a good house. The performance is well spoken of.

From present appearances the crops of Lane county will be at least equal to those of former years.

Rev. P. S. Knight of Salem, will deliver the baccalaureate address before the students of the university, June 10.

The genial face of A. W. Stowell, now of Portland, is again seen on our streets. He came up Sunday and will return to-morrow.

At a called meeting of the senior class of the university, Miss Mary Dorris was chosen to write the class poem and W. T. Slater as orator.

Circuit court convenes here next Monday. The most important case is the trial of H. W. Abrams for the killing of Dr. Brownlee at Junction. Eight divorce suits are on the docket.

All indications point to the fact that the brass band concert to be held here in June will be a success in every particular. The bands so far responding have expressed a willingness to take part in the contest.

F. B. Dunn, our newly elected mayor, returned from San Francisco Tuesday. The election of Mr. Dunn was quite a compliment to him, he having been nominated and elected during his absence and without any knowledge that his name would be used.

At a regular meeting of the city council last Monday evening, J. T. Witter was re-elected night watchman and J. M. Hendricks elected treasurer, B. H. James having resigned said office on account of sickness. The finance committee reported balance now in treasury, $881. E. M. Waite has been awarded the contract for printing the revised city laws.

Mr. James F. Robinson of the firm of Robinson & Church, hardware merchants, was last evening married to Miss Nannie Hughes. The ceremony took place at the Presbyterian church, in the presence of about forty invited friends, Dr. E. R. Gray officiating. Following the exercises the guests immediately repaired to Mr. Robinson's residence where an informal reception was held. After tendering congratulations and partaking of refreshments, the guests, at a seasonable hour, retired wishing the newly married couple all the happiness possible in coming years.

TALK OF THE NEWSPAPERS.

THE "SPECIAL" DISPATCH BUSINESS.

Portland Daily Standard.

Since the organ discharged its "Washington correspondent" for "imposing upon it," the special dispatch business has been transferred to St. Petersburg, Constantinople and Louisville. It is very evident the Denver man has disappeared from the publication office in this city where the "special dispatch business has been so successfully worked up and palmed off on the public. Raising dates and manufacturing bogus dispatches has come out, and the public, which has been deceived in this respect, will place but little reliance in whatever it may find in its columns in the future.

A KIND SUGGESTION.

Oregon City Enterprise.

Country newspapers that are unable to pay for telegraphic news are compelled to borrow. Either we have been compelled to pirate—no, borrow—from THE OREGONIAN. At a time within the memory of man, we were promised a "News" source of supply, but we are still compelled to go to THE OREGONIAN for our News. Neighbor, why not move to the country for a day or so? THE OREGONIAN would exchange with you or, we'd lend you "ours."

IT SEEMS VERY MUCH TO THE POINT.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The coming of Mr. Henry Villard will give the ed[illegible] of the Tacoma Ledger another opportunity to cringe before, fawn upon and lick the feet of the man against whom this puny but villainous and cowardly [illegible] efforts were directed a couple of years ago—and he'll do it, too, if he gets the chance.

Home Comfort.

After a Rainy Ride a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of Some People.

"I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Dr. B——, as he entered his house in a cosy little village in the interior of the State of New York, after a tedious night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains to see a man, who, the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live till morning, unless he had immediate help, and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colic, which his family might have removed in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple medicines in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay him or not."

"Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remedies do you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea.

"In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have been all right in an hour, and saved me a dreary ride."

It acts directly on complaints, cures at once.

All diseases are eliminated from the system by what may be roughly called expulsion or extraction or a union of the two processes. Benson's Plaster performs both. It soothes the nervous system and excites the healing, resolving functions in the organs beneath the pores of the skin. All other plasters compel the patient to wait. They give him hope for to-morrow. Benson's plaster gives him help to-day. Which is better, do you think? Buy the CAPCINE and keep it in the house. Price 25 cents.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

PORTLAND, April 11, 1883.

I read your editorial of this morning, and thought perhaps these verses would not be inappropriate for the times: What say you? J. P. L.

There's a cry from out the nation,
There's a cry from out the land,
'Tis the wail of little children
From an oppressed and stricken band.
Brigham's mighty hosts were triumphant,
Now a nation lifts a [illegible];
Haste, oh haste, you men in judgment,
Help them from their life of [illegible].

Can you still refuse to hear them?
Shall their pleadings be in vain?
When you give them honored birthright
You redeem them from shame.
Oh! their little lives are worth it,
Oh! these little souls must live,
Haste then, oh! men and brethren,
Happy lives unto them give.
